

KITCHEN SET UP

When setting up your Bnb there are plenty of details to think of, especially when it comes to a full kitchen set up.

Here is a list to help you bring it all together.

We always recommend buying an extra set of glasses and crockery so that when there is a breakage you can replace it without destroying the set. You can keep this in your locked cleaners cupboard and top up as required.

When you purchase your crockery and glassware keep in mind your listings price bracket.

If you are charging $1000.00 per night -Kmart glassware might not cut it. That said we find Kmart perfect for many listings.

Just remember don't put in anything too precious- because as you know breakages always happen.

With pots and pans we recommend getting a new set so cleaning standards are easy to keep. Baked on grease you look past at home isn't that inviting to the guest's eye.

Pantry Staples:

We always supply some basics like vinegar, oil, salt and pepper. This means your guests can easily pull a salad together with a BBQ chicken or be able to cook a fry up on the Barbie.

Third Draw Down

Every house needs a third draw down. It's for all the usuals (as listed below), and it's also a good place to store instruction manuals (plastic sleeve please), smoke alarm batteries, pens, noted pads etc.

And don't forget, the most important way to get booked is to make sure your listing has professional shots, tells a story of your property and shows off the character of your place.

Have fun.
